Parent and Carer Painting Workshop, Wednesday 18th March at 5:30pm

Dear Parents and Carers,

In my free time I enjoy painting. It's a hobby that helps me slow down, be creative, and occasionally produce something I'm rather pleased with. From time to time, I also exhibit my work, which is a rewarding way to do something a little different from the day-to-day life of school.

As part of our upcoming Opening Minds Week, I'd love to invite parents and carers to a Highland Cow Acrylic Painting Workshop for complete beginners. No experience is needed at all - just a willingness to have a go, enjoy the process, and perhaps leave with a rather characterful cow of your own. It will be a friendly, informal session and a nice chance for members of our school community to do something creative together. I promise you do not need any experience to make your painting a success.

I ran this same session for staff recently, none of whom had painted before and the paintings they produced were brilliant – the proof is below!

The workshop will take place in the school hall on Wednesday 18th March, 5:30 – 7:30pm.

Please note that this is a session for adults, rather than pupils. To cover the expense of the materials, the cost of the workshop will be £10 per person. You will do your painting on a canvas board using acrylic paint. There is no need to bring anything with you – all equipment and materials will be provided.

Spaces for this will be limited and allocated on a first come first served basis. If you would like to book onto this session, please do so via ParentPay – tickets are available now.

Kind Regards,

Amy Preece

Head of School
